Q3 2020

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This presentation may include “forward-looking statements” as defined by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Although Forestar believes any such statements are based on reasonable assumptions, there is no assurance that actual outcomes will not be materially different. Factors that may cause the actual results to be materially different from the future results expressed by the forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to: the impact of C-19 on the economy and our business; the effect of D.R. Horton’s controlling level of ownership on us and the holders of our securities; our ability to realize the potential benefits of the strategic relationship with D.R. Horton; the effect of our strategic relationship with D.R. Horton on our ability to maintain relationships with our vendors and customers; demand for new housing, which can be affected by a number of factors including the availability of mortgage credit, job growth and fluctuations in interest rates; competitive actions by other companies; accuracy of estimates and other assumptions related to investment in and development of real estate, the expected timing and pricing of land and lot sales and related cost of real estate sales; our ability to comply with our debt covenants, restrictions and limitations; our ability to hire and retain key personnel; changes in governmental policies, laws or regulations and actions or restrictions of regulatory agencies; general economic, market or business conditions where our real estate activities are concentrated; our ability to achieve our strategic initiatives; our ability to obtain future entitlement and development approvals; our ability to obtain or the availability of surety bonds to secure our performance related to construction and development activities and the pricing of bonds; obtaining reimbursements and other payments from governmental districts and other agencies and timing of such payments; the levels of resale housing inventory in our projects and the regions in which they are located; fluctuations in costs and expenses, including impacts from shortages in materials or labor; the opportunities (or lack thereof) that may be presented to us and that we may pursue; the strength of our information technology systems and the risk of cybersecurity breaches; and the conditions of the capital markets and our ability to raise capital to fund expected growth. Additional information about factors that could lead to material changes in performance is contained in Forestar’s annual report on Form 10-K and subsequent quarterly reports on Form 10-Q, all of which are filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).

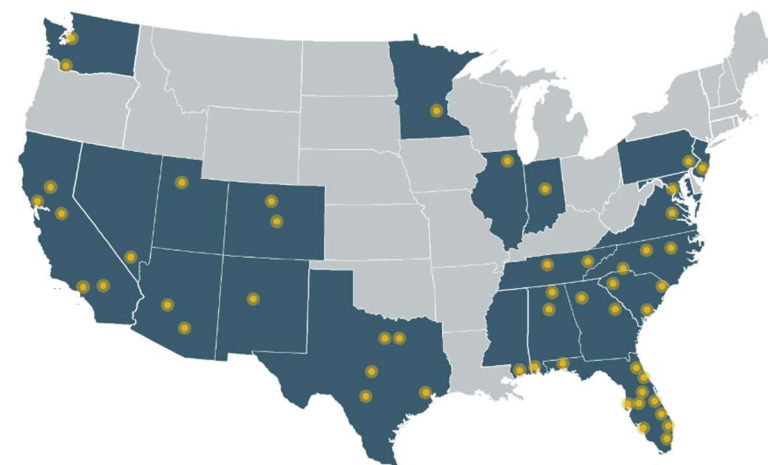

COVID-19

- During the latter part of March, the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic (C-19) and the related widespread reductions in economic activity began to temporarily affect the Company's business operations and demand for its residential lots
- Residential construction is designated as an essential business as part of critical infrastructure in almost all municipalities across the U.S. where Forestar operates
- The Company implemented operational protocols to comply with social distancing and other health and safety standards
- The Company's lot sales pace declined in late March and April as homebuilders slowed their purchases of lots to adjust to lower expected levels of home sales as a result of the pandemic; however, as housing market conditions began to improve in May and June, the Company's lot sales pace has increased
- Even with the improvement in demand in May and June, the Company remains cautious as to the impact C-19 may have on its operations and on the overall economy in the future
- The extent to which C-19 impacts Forestar's operational and financial performance will depend on future developments, including the duration and spread of COVID-19, and the impact on the Company's customers, trade partners and employees, all of which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted
- The Company believes it is well positioned to effectively operate during changing economic conditions because of its low net leverage and strong liquidity position, its low overhead model and its relationship with D.R. Horton

UNIQUE LOT MANUFACTURER BUSINESS MODEL

FOR's unique lot manufacturing model is highly differentiated from that of a typical land developer

- Business model designed to achieve scale and consistency, while minimizing risk
- At scale, FOR's high turnover, lower risk "lot manufacturing" strategy is expected to generate returns similar to an efficient, production-oriented homebuilder

FORESTAR

- ✓ Short duration, fully-entitled lot development projects
- ✓ Large scale with national footprint and in-market depth
- ✓ Returns-focused, lower risk inventory model
- ✓ Consistent operating results at scale and currently profitable
- ✓ Understandable, growth-oriented business model
- ✓ Strong liquidity and access to debt and equity capital
- ✓ Phased, discretionary land development with known buyer

TYPICAL LAND DEVELOPER

- X Long-term, often complex or unentitled, real estate projects
- X Lack of geographic diversification and depth in markets
- X Lower return, unpredictable inventory model
- X Lack of consistent profitability
- X Limited visibility into future growth
- X Limited access to and high cost of capital
- X Speculative land with undefined buyer

BENEFITS OF HIGHLY STRATEGIC FOR AND DHI ALIGNMENT

BENEFITS TO FOR

- Enhanced, experienced leadership team
- Supports Forestar's national platform
- Significant built-in demand for lots
- Improved access to capital markets
- Shared Services from DHI

BENEFITS TO DHI

- Long-term consistent supplier of finished lots across DHI's national footprint (88 markets in 29 states)
- Integral component of DHI's operational strategy
- Participate in value creation of FOR

Alignment with DHI, the nation's largest builder since 2002, provides support and stability in uncertain economic times

- D.R. Horton has a strong appetite for finished lots that continues even during potential market downturns
 - During the worst years of the last significant housing downturn, D.R. Horton still closed ~17,000 to 20,000 homes annually, the majority of which were built on finished lots purchased from 3rd parties
- DHI is committed to owning no more than a 2 to 3-year supply of lots and to increasing its mix of optioned lots in inventory
- Most land developers lack the scale and access to capital to be consistent suppliers of lots to DHI across its national footprint
- Master Supply, Stockholder and Shared Services Agreements formalize the business relationship and protect FOR's interests⁽¹⁾
- DHI plans to maintain a significant ownership position in FOR over the long-term

Relationship with DHI further strengthens FOR's competitive advantages and DHI's interests are fully-aligned with shareholders to ensure the profitable expansion of FOR's platform

- Average Forestar residential lot sale price for the TTM ended 6/30/2020 was ~$85,300⁽¹⁾
- Compelling demand from entry-level buyers, but lack of inventory has been a constraint
- D.R. Horton offers homes at all price points, with entry-level / first-time buyers representing a majority of closings
 - Entry-level Express Homes brand has increased from 5% of DHI closings in fiscal 2014 to 35% of closings in fiscal 2019
 - Public homebuilders have shifted towards entry-level, with the establishment of numerous entry-level brands over past five years
